AN ATTEMPT TO CHECK THE STREET-CAR BRUTALITY.

Pickings from the Courts—Gen. Miles' Latest Orders—Passenger Movements by Rail and Steam—Y. M. C. A. Notes, etc.

Yesterday at 11 a. m. J. D. Richardson, a driver on the Main Street and Agricultural Park Railroad, was tried before Justice Austin on a charge of cruelty to animals by the overloading of his car on the morning of the 4th of March.

C. R. Davidson testified that on the morning in question he boarded the car about 6 a. m. to go to his work on Figueroa street; that there were on the car between sixty and seventy persons. More than half the passengers were standing up.

The horse was under medium size, and he had great difficulty in pulling the car. One man rode on top of the car. When standing at Washington Gardens the horse was in a perfect lather of sweat, and was so fagged out that he had to be taken out and another horse substituted. Melville B. Wilson testified that he was also a passenger, and that there were between sixty-five and seventy passengers; that one of them rode on top of the car; that the horse had very hard work to pull the car; that when the car arrived at Washington Gardens, the horse was very much exhausted. And that a cloud of vapor arose from him caused by his sweating so terribly. Witness also stated that the horse had to be constantly urged by the driver to keep him going. This was done by slapping him with the lines. Here the prosecution rested.

The driver testified as follows: Had but one car that morning. Have had two ever since. Collected more fares that morning than any morning since on one trip. Had a full load when reached Fourth street. Did not stop after that, but people continued to get on. Don't think sixty-five passengers could get on the car at one time. Think that the horse would weigh 400 or 1000 pounds. When we reached Washington Gardens, the horse was sweating very freely, and appeared pretty warm.

On cross-examination witness stated that he thought the loaded car, after being started at Temple block, would run of itself to Washington Gardens, and therefore the horse could not have been overloaded; but that two cars were put on the next morning because he told the superintendent that there were too many passengers for one horse. Think the car will seat about thirty-five. Think there were about twenty standing up. Changed the horse because he was getting pretty warm.

Mr. Mellon, a passenger, testified: I got on at Fourth street. There were at that time about thirty passengers on the car. Don't think that the horse was overloaded. When we got to Washington Gardens the horse was sweating freely, but not panting. Don't think that he was sweating any more when he got out to the Gardens than he was when he passed me on the way to Temple Block, while I was waiting at Fourth street for the return of the car.

Cross-examined: The driver could not get around on the car to collect the fares. I drove for him while he went around the car on the ground and collected the fares. When we got to Washington Gardens I advised the driver to change the horse, because I don't like to see a horse overworked.

E. M. Lorricks, superintendent of the road, testified: Saw the horse about half an hour after he was taken into the stables. He was all right. Think he will weigh about 1075 pounds. Had only one car on for several days prior to the time mentioned, because it was rainy and there was not much travel on that line. Don't think that the horse was overworked; changed him to keep peace among the passengers who were complaining to the driver about being overworked. We make a round trip with each horse, running from Washington Gardens to Temple Block, thence to Agricultural Park and thence back to Washington Gardens. From Temple Block to Washington Gardens the grade is all the way down and will average nine inches to the hundred feet.

Mr. McKenzie testified: I didn't see any difference in the condition of the horse when we got to Washington Gardens. Think there were twenty passengers standing up. No further evidence was offered and the case was continued for argument until 9 o'clock this morning.

SENSIBLE WORDS.

A Leading San Francisco Doctor Dr. J. Campbell Shorb, of San Francisco, writes the following letter to the Herald, giving his views on the smallpox scare:

LOS ANGELES (Cal.), March 17, 1887. Editor Herald: Important professional engagements calling me at this time to Los Angeles, and prepared from accounts read in the various papers of San Francisco in reference to prevalence and virulence of an epidemic of smallpox reported with great circumstantial detail in this city and county, I anticipated any danger or trouble to friends and myself growing out of an exposure here, by vaccinating the party with whom I was for the time traveling. The precaution taken was a wise one—if only a solitary case were diagnosed as in progress in this city. But on my arrival here, which preceded the visit of the State Board of Health only six hours, I discovered that there had been gross, and I may add, cruel exaggeration about this visitation of smallpox, which from the time of its appearance here up to the present hour has numbered as victims but six persons, belonging to native population of this State or their descendants, and two strangers (Americans) from the East and without families. The nationality or circumstances of the other two I have not been able to determine up to the present writing.

I had the pleasure of meeting Dr. R. Beverly Cole, one of the most prominent and scientific members of the State Board of Health, on the street this afternoon, and he assured me, and more than that, kindly allowed me permission to use his name in this connection, that nothing he had said or done since his arrival here last Sunday could be construed into an acknowledgment to the public that there was anything here like an epidemic of smallpox.

Since Sunday last, four days, but one new case, and that so mild as scarcely to suggest confinement to house or bed, has been reported, and it is safe and reasonable to conclude that whatever danger did exist here is surely over, and Los Angeles lies in peace to accomplish the splendid destiny toward which she was moving with marvelous precision and momentum when this cry of smallpox, which was louder in San Francisco than anywhere this side of the San Fernando tunnel, for a moment arrested her wonderful development.

My statements tonight are based upon information derived from Hon. Thomas E. Rowan, who is chairman of the Board of Supervisors here, who is in daily contact and consultation with the City Physician, having this visitation in hand, and who is as well known in San Francisco as almost any gentleman from the southern country. I cannot understand the inspiration that led to false or grossly exaggerated reports on this subject that we find here, filling the columns of the daily papers in San Francisco.

The southern routes from the East are at this time without any question the favorites for tourists and those coming here to build permanent homes, and surely, a smallpox scare in the southern country, developed on paper, purely in San Francisco, would necessarily keep thousands away from that city, and thousands of dollars in the bargain, for the reason that their safety would force them to shun a stricken region—one full of danger on their journey to the metropolis, or further north. The northern route, at this season, with the danger of snow blockades, bridge and road destruction, is wisely avoided, and if the papers go cruelly to work to blockade with pestilence the only pleasant route left open to California, every portion of the State will suffer material damage until the press, with its mighty voice, shall proclaim the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. If I can in any way serve you, you are at liberty to command me for the next four days. J. C. SHORB.

SORT O' SUBSEQUENT.

He Wanted to Carry a Concealed "Weapon."

"I say," ejaculated a 300-pound individual, who looked and acted as if he had been tampering with the seductive calamity water, as he pranced into the police station last night, "I want to know whether a feller ken carry a concealed pistol on his person in this ere town?"

"No, sir, you cannot, unless you have a permit," observed the captain of the watch. "Wal, give me 'er permit right away."

"You can't get it here."

"My life's in danger, an' I must have one. I guess when two sizzlers steps up behind feller what hasn't done nuttin' and bang him in the head with 'er bottle, on Los Angeles street, he ought to be allowed ter have concealed weapons about his person."

"Why don't you have them arrested?"

"Cos I don't know where they are. Ye see, it was four years ago, an' er officer might have er good deal of trouble ter find 'em."

"On go off and wait another four years, and come around here, and I will tell you how to defend yourself."

"My life is in mighty great danger, an'—"

"Wal, give me 'er permit ter defend—"

"hic"—the warrior from the stove began to act. "I'll go and see Steve White tomorrow, an' he'll give me 'er permit ter defend—"

"hic"—he went and he'll tell the door and made his way down the street.

C. S. Railroad Notes.

[San Bernardino Times, March 16.] There is more freight going over the California Southern at this time than has been moving for a year. Sufficient power can hardly be supplied to haul it along fast enough, and yet new engines are coming in from the East almost every week. There is not a railroad in the United States that has come to the front so rapidly as this same California Southern road.

Some time ago the California Southern Company entered into contract with the County Supervisors to grade, gravel and put in first-class condition the roadbed and street generally alongside of the track on I street. The same has just been done in less than three months, while the stipulated time for the work to be done was six months. The job required a great deal of hard work, and cost a pile of money, but it was done in a thorough manner, and has been received as satisfactory.

Six new switches are now being put in the yards, connecting with the different new buildings now in process of construction. The company has just finished burning two large kilns of brick, and as soon as they are opened, which will possibly be inside of three days, the walls of the roundhouse and shops will be completed. The roundhouse on all the buildings will be pushed forward very rapidly, as most of the buildings had been completed, as to foundation, and were waiting on the brick.

[San Bernardino Index, March 16.]

The eating-house is now feeding about forty new men, who were put to work this week. This makes about 130 employees of the railroad here, who eat at the depot hotel. The grading of the California Southern Railroad is progressing with commendable energy. The new line branches from the California Southern in San Jacinto cañon, about three miles north from Elsinore.

Yesterday was pay-day on the California Southern, and the new system of paying by checks was inaugurated by Treasurer Silver. This saves the company a considerable expense, and is just as convenient for the boys.

Superintendent of Telegraph Auger is having all trains on the California Southern equipped with telegraph boxes containing a key and sounder, so that when they are caught along the line or at stations without operators, the instruments can be attached to the wire and the operator not receive orders. This is a wise policy on Mr. Auger's part, as it will often prevent disagreeable trouble.

A SCHEME.

To Build a "Raymond" in San Bernardino.

[San Bernardino Index, March 16.]

hotel is finished, will have delightful walks, flowers already cultivated, and will not have to wait several years to improve. That there is some foundation for us to work on, we may state that already $50,000 has been subscribed for this purpose, as follows: Joseph Brown, $50,000; Brown tract syndicate, $20,000; and a gentleman who does not desire his name published yet, the remaining $20,000. Of course this is only a starter, but as soon as all the arrangements are completed the company will open their subscription books, and there is no doubt that our leading citizens, seeing the policy of having such a hotel here, will at once take stock in the enterprise. Among the features of the hotel will be fine play-ground for children, including swings, gymnasium, etc., tennis court, drives, croquet grounds, and all kinds of interesting outside sport for ladies and gentlemen. The low land that lies to the east and south of Mr. Brown's will be dug out and a fine artificial lake covering five acres be made, which will be stocked with fish and covered with boats.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Compton.
GENERAL NOTES
COMPTON, March 17.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] On Saturday John Griss started for Texas to view some grazing land, with the expectation of investing in a cattle ranch.

The hay crop is looking fine; there never was a more thrifty growth of alfalfa than the present.

There is some property changing hands in our place.

Dr. G. A. Millard, having become interested in business in Los Angeles and moved there, has sold his residence here to William Malcom.

Mr. Batecock has sold his improved 30 acres just east of town for $3000.

Mr. John Malcom, our new grocer, has bought H. C. Koser's large dwelling-house. Mr. Malcom opened store in the same building in which he lived, but business has crowded his family out.

On Monday night last our correspondent was awakened by the furious barking of his dog. Supposing horse-thieves were around, he was beginning to feel around for the shotgun, when a bright light flashed at the window, revealing the Compton cornet band in full force. The shotgun was left alone and the boys discoursed sweet music, doing credit to the leader. Long may they dwell.

On Saturday morning J. A. J. Flood died of heart disease. He had only been suffering a short time; his death was a great surprise to all. He came to California in an early day and settled near Stockton, and moving from there to Compton in 1886, was one of the first settlers here. He has seen and helped to make many improvements. He leaves a widow and grown-up family. Grandpa Flood was widely known and will be greatly missed by the community. He was seventy years old lacking a few days.

The farmers are still plowing and sowing grain.

G. A. M.

San Bernardino.

[San Bernardino Gazette, March 18.]

An athletic club is being formed in this city, and the members will hold a meeting at the Courthouse next Monday evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

It is again becoming very dangerous to be out after dark upon our streets, as on Monday evening a carpenter named Payne was knocked down and robbed at the corner of Third and E streets, and last evening a man named David Henderson, while on his way home, was held up on Third street, between E and F. Mr. Henderson struggled manfully with his assailants, of which there were two, and succeeded in breaking away from them. He says that the men were well-dressed, and that he will recognize them again if ever he sets eyes upon them.

[San Bernardino Index, March 18.]

The streets are being cleaned up.

The motor road is pushing ahead.

The street-railroad track is being ballasted along D street.

The Knights of Pythias lodge are taking in a great many new members now.

The lecture last night by Rev. Canine, of Los Angeles, entitled "Real People," at Y. M. C. A. Hall, was well attended.

F. S. Kelly came in from Oro Grande yesterday, where he has been superintending the cutting of about 7000 cords of wood for W. A. Kirk & Co. The wood is shipped to Colton, Los Angeles, the San Gabriel Valley Railroad, and San Bernardino.

Ontario.

[Ontario Record, March 17.]

The ties are in position for the new Southern Pacific side track.

The Presbyterians are likely to build a $3000 church; the location has not been definitely decided on yet.

Mr. Purvis's son Lloyd was bitten by a rattlesnake Sunday; prompt application of remedies prevented any serious results, and the little fellow is reported doing well this morning.

A case of right-of-way damages between the Santa Fe line and J. M. Armour was settled here by referees, Thursday. The railroad, represented by Byron Waters, Esq., chose C. Frankish for one referee; Mr. Armour selected L. S. Dyer, and these two chose H. H. Morgan. The damage was fixed at $500, and Mr. Waters drew a check at once for the amount.

The bank block begins to loom up in an imposing manner. The second story is up, the ceiling joists in, and the partitions up in the second story. The arched windows of the upper story, topped with imitation terra cotta, are very handsome. The northeast corner will have great beauty; two arched windows in the bank, and in the second story bay windows, above which will be two towers.

Pasadena.

[Pasadena Star, March 17.]

The postal officials are rejoicing over the fact that the receipt of the office are such as to insure the making of this a second-class office not later than June, and as much sooner as his excellency, Postmaster-General Vilas, will grant.

Suit has been commenced by Capt. Ellis against the San Gabriel Valley Railroad Company for damages to the amount of $175 done the Ellis block by the smashing of the car through the building on the 29th day of January.

Last night sons and daughters of New England assembled in Williams's small hall for the purpose of organizing a New England society. Forty persons were present, and P. G. Wooster was elected chairman pro tem, and George A. Durrell temporary secretary. A committee of five, consisting of Messrs. Castello, Flynn, Johnson, Hovey and Place, were appointed to report on by-laws and organization. The meeting adjourned until Tuesday night next, when they will meet in the same place. There are in the neighborhood of 200 New England people in Pasadena and vicinity, and all should turn out and swell the numbers.

Ventura.

A CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.

VENTURA, March 17.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] About a week ago J. Bellah, the manager of the planing-mill, was injured by a bit flying from a planing-machine and striking him in the groin. The force of the missile was broken before it struck him, and the wound was not as serious as it might have been.

Yesterday Charles Bellah, a brother

Last Monday J. J. Illner, a bridge-builder on the Ventura extension of the Southern Pacific Railroad, had his foot crushed by a heavy timber. He left Tuesday for the hospital at Sacramento.

The Santa Ana Water Company have made three new reservoirs at different heights on the foothills, from which they will supply the town and adjacent country with good water.

HAPPY ONTARIO.

Her Electric Road Looming in the Near Future.

In the one first day of its canvassing, the Ontario committee secured $5290 in subscriptions for the electric railroad to be built there by Los Angeles parties. The following is a copy of the agreement, which heads the subscription lists:

Whereas, H. L. Macneil, Lyman Stewart, D. McFarland, O. S. Picher, of the county of Los Angeles, and Charles Frankish, of the county of San Bernardino, State of California, propose to construct and operate an electric railway, from A street along Euclid avenue to Twenty-fourth street, in what is known as Ontario Colony, in the county of San Bernardino, State of California, and provided that property-owners in said colony shall subscribe and pay to them or their assigns the sum of $15,000 as a bonus for constructing and putting the same in operation; and

Whereas, the undersigned property-owners in said colony, who will be benefited thereby, have agreed and do hereby agree to and with the said projectors of said railway, in consideration of the construction of said railway, to pay to them on demand the several sums of money set opposite their respective signatures on the subscription list hereto attached and marked "Schedule of Subscriptions," when said railway shall have been completed and operated thirty days between the points aforesaid, as herein agreed by said projectors thereof.

And said H. L. Macneil, Lyman Stewart, D. McFarland, O. S. Picher and Charles Frankish have agreed, and do hereby agree to and with the said subscribers, in consideration of said several sums hereby subscribed and agreed to be paid by them, to commence the construction of said electric railway within four weeks after the full amount of $15,000 shall have been subscribed as and for such bonus, and to complete and put the same in operation within six months thereafter between the points aforesaid.

And they further agree that the construction and equipment of the road shall be first class in every respect; that the rates of fare on said road shall not at any time exceed 15 cents for single trips, 25 cents for round trips, with ten single trip tickets for $1, between the points aforesaid; and 5 cents single trip between the Southern Pacific railway and Tenth street; and that the number of trips shall not be less than six each way daily, and the average rate of speed not less than ten miles per hour.

And they further agree, for the consideration above mentioned, that within six months after receiving the full payment of the proposed bonus of $15,000, they will construct and put in operation, on said Euclid avenue, a system of electric lighting, the cost of maintaining the public lights to be borne by the property-owners.

MEDICAL INHALATION COMBINED WITH

CONSTITUTIONAL REMEDIES.

Our treatment of the diseases of the respiratory passages consists in the employment of Medical Inhalation, for its direct effects on the diseased organs; and, at the same time, adopting such hygienic measures, and administering such medicines by the stomach as will most effectively purify the blood, give tone to the nervous system, and build up and strengthen the general constitution. In other words, we employ combined local and general treatment.

What is Medical Inhalation? Before stating briefly what Medical Inhalation is, we propose, in a few words, to state its purpose, in as few words as possible, to state clearly what it is not.

Medical Inhalation is not a cure-all, a nostrum, or a panacea. It is not a Specific Remedy for any disease. It is not a quick medicine, advertised to cure all the ills that flesh is heir to, and intended to fill the pockets of its proprietors. It is not a talisman, whose possession insures health to its possessor without the intervention of either sense or judgment. Medical Inhalation is none of these things.

Medical Inhalation is simply and solely a method of taking medicines by inhaling or breathing them into the lungs. Instead of swallowing them into the stomach. By inhalation, the proper medicines are applied directly to the seat of the disease, in the nose, throat or lungs; and it is clear to every reasoning person how peculiarly applicable Inhalation is to the treatment of the organs named. If you have a cold or a sore throat, or if you are afflicted with a cough, or if you are afflicted with a bronchitis, or if you are afflicted with a catarrh of the nasal passages or throat, or if you are afflicted with a catarrh of the lungs, or if you are afflicted with a catarrh of the sinuses, or if you are afflicted with a catarrh of the middle ear, or if you are afflicted with a catarrh of CONGRESSMAN GLOVER, of Missouri, gives the Coleman Presidential boom a good-natured shove.

A HOTEL fire in Buffalo early yesterday furnished a holocaust, the recital of which makes the marrow creep in one's bones.

"BONDS OR PESTILENCE!" demands the San Bernardino Courier, in an earnest appeal for certain sewer improvements. What's the matter with having both?

THE Governor signed a big batch of bills yesterday. The legislative saving at the spigot having been exercised through the long hours of the session, the losing at the bung is being duly transacted in the short hours.

A KENTUCKIAN has presented to the President a fishing-reel of his own make, and has accompanied the gift with the statement that "he admires the President for the fish he has caught." This is a very great indorsement, and shows the uncompromising quality of Kentucky Democracy.

COMPLAINT is made in a Sacramento dispatch that Gov. Bartlett, by a bit of unpardonable duplicity, tricked some officers into arresting some murderers, without actually offering them a special reward therefor. How sad, that an officer now-a-days should do his duty for his salary and nothing to boot!

THE Republicans in the Ohio Legislature have adopted a resolution thanking ex-Gov. Hoadly for his expressions at the Cincinnati banquet in favor of fair elections and against the forgeries. Every Democrat in the Legislature voted against the resolution. Ohio Democracy favors boodle and ballot-box stuffing.

A DEMOCRATIC contemporary figures it out that, in the recent municipal election in Oakland, the American ticket received the votes of 800 Democrats and 401 Republicans, and asserts that the result of the election has about as much significance as the price of putty. This is an unfortunate simile. With such a hole in the Democratic party to fill, the price of putty means a great deal.

ON Bismarck's septennate bill providing for an army of 468,000 and its support for the term of seven years, which passed the German Reichstag on the 11th inst., the vote was 227 for the bill and 81 against, 84 of the members present not voting. In a full house there are 397 members, including 131 Conservatives, 39 Imperialists, 100 National Liberals, 97 Centerists, 34 New German Liberals, 11 Socialists, and 35 of other dissenting groups. The National Liberals, Imperialists and Conservatives voted solidly for the bill, receiving a small reinforcement from the Centerists. Had all the members voted, Bismarck's majority would have been fifty-seven. Counting National Liberals, Imperialists and Conservatives in his favor, his majority in the present Reichstag will be forty-three.

Piling Up the Coin.

The Sub-Treasury at San Francisco has $50,000,000 lying idle there on Commercial street. In the Sub-Treasury of the United States in New York is a very much larger sum. In the Treasury at Washington is also a large amount. The Government has altogether in its custody, lying idle, about $500,000,000 in coin, or the equivalent of coin.

This is probably as large a sum as any government ever had stored up and unused.

The Government of the United States now owes and is paying interest on nearly three times that amount of money, and the question forces itself on one's mind: Why don't the Government pay off more of the debt and stop interest? It certainly has the power to do so, whether the debt is due or not, but part of the debt is due and remains unpaid. The financing involved in this statement is inexplicable to the common mind. If Mr. Cleveland, or Mr. Manning, or any other member of the Government, can give a satisfactory explanation of it, the duty devolves upon him to do so. It is due the people to know why such financing is continued. It seems plain enough for the comprehension of any man, woman or child that the policy is wrong; and there is a little fact called to mind which goes far to prove it. During the last Presidential election the point was made by Mr. Hendricks, Vice-Presidential candidate, in some stump speeches, that there were then $400,000,000 of idle money in the Treasury, while we were owing several times that amount and were paying interest on it. No more telling argument was made against the Republican Administration of Mr. Arthur in all the canvass. It is safe to say that Cleveland and Hendricks owed their election to those speeches. But how is the pledge (implied and express) of their party being carried out? The answer is: Not at all. This awkward condition of the national finances has been growing worse and worse every day since the Democratic party came into power. What Mr. Hendricks complained about in the Republican party (and justly) is much worse under his own party administration. The fact is, President Arthur and his Secretary of the Treasury were to a degree under the influence of Wall Street. But Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Manning, his Secretary, are body and soul under that influence. They have apparently lost every vestige of independence in the management of the national finances. Whatever policy Wall Street desires, that is the policy of the administration of President Cleveland. But Mr. Manning, the devoted friend of Wall Street, is about to return to Wall Street. He has resigned the Secretaryship to take charge of a large bank in New York city. So far, so good. He ought never to have left the banking business, and his return to it is a move in the right direction. But here is the danger. Would Wall Street have let him resign, unless some one is to be appointed to succeed him in the Treasury of his way of thinking? Can we expect any change for the better under Cleveland's Administration? There is nothing in the past to warrant such a hope. The public is now on the tenter-hooks to know who will be named to succeed Mr. Manning. The appointment must be made within the next few days, and then we may know whether Wall Street or the people are to be subserved by it.

DR. HENRY D. COGSWELL, the "statue-friend" of numerous eastern cities, is said to be taking preliminary steps for the founding of a school of technology in San Francisco. He intimates that he will donate for the purpose property valued at $1,000,000. It is rumored that each of the four corners of the proposed college will be carried up to a turret, each of which is to be surmounted by a colossal pot-metal statue of the generous founder, several of which are now lying subject to his order in the corporation yards of Boston and other eastern cities.

The Alta thinks that before indulging in any violent demonstrations of gratitude over Dr. Cogswell's alleged munificence, it may be well to wait until the deed of gift is recorded, and see whether it is so hampered with restrictions as to render it impossible for any trustees appointed to carry out its terms. Dr. Cogswell once founded a college of dentistry on paper—but owing to restrictions of this character it never came into actual existence, and the philanthropic doctor sued for and recovered back his property. If the scheme in San Francisco should fall through although, couldn't Dr. Cogswell come to the Southern Citrus Belt and get a mountain?

EX-SENATOR CORNELIUS COLE, who is an unostentatious, though a highly appreciated, citizen of Los Angeles county, residing on his farm at the Chahuenga, delivered a lecture in Pioneer Hall, San Francisco, last Wednesday evening, on pioneer days in California. The discourse is spoken of in most favorable terms by the San Francisco press. It fills suits Los Angeles to allow a prophet to be without honor in his own country. Ex-Senator Cole should be invited to repeat his lecture here. As he reduced it to writing before delivering it, he can, of course, give it again, if he is so disposed. Senator Cole is known as a facile and forcible writer, and his reminiscences of "those days of old, those days of gold," would prove highly interesting, alike to the few remaining forty-niners and the great generation of later comers. The Los Angeles Historical Society would be the proper organization to extend the invitation.

THE Washington Star thinks that, although Eads's ship-railway idea survives its inventor, no one remains, as far as is now known, who can fill Capt. Eads's place as a promoter of his enterprise. The success he met with through life was always traceable to his powerful personality quite as much as to any ingenuity in his work—as an engineer. From the day he made a diving-bell out of a whisky-barrel, and out-dared the professional divers by going to the bottom of the Mississippi River in it himself, his supreme self-confidence has been the mainspring of his most profitable ventures; and it is hardly fair to expect that his successor at the head of the ship-railway or any of his other undertakings will have the same indomitable faith in these things, or in his power to put them through, that their projector had.

THE latest volume of "Commerce and Navigation," issued by the Bureau of Statistics, brings out this curious bit of history: "In 1784, when the impoverishment that followed the war of the Revolution demanded that something be done to build up a trade with other countries, ten bales of cotton were shipped from New Orleans to Liverpool, where the captain of the vessel was arrested for fraud in pretending that the United States had produced so large a quantity as that. In the century which has followed the export of cotton has increased from 10 bales to 4,250,000 bales."

AMUSEMENTS.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—A fair-sized audience was present last night to witness the performance of Miss Clara Morris in the French version of East Lynne, which is renamed Miss Maitland. The piece as altered has not been at all improved, but there is ample room for the display of Miss Morris's "emotional" talent, and she manages to keep the feelings of her audience at the proper state of tension. The two children, improbable as they are, were very prettily represented by Angela and Sara Ogden. Miss Morris does not appear in Gilbert's comedy of Engaged, with which the company closes its engagement tonight.

MEN AND WOMEN.

Mrs. Margaret J. Preston, the Southern poet, is threatened with total blindness. Carter Harrison says that Chicago's Labor party has played into the hands of the Republicans. Bernard, questioned, says: "I hope there will be no war—kill another year! Boulanger will not die."

They are passing around the hat to save Daniel O'Connell's home from being sold under the Irish hammer.

Judge Albin W. Tourgee is reported seriously ill with pneumonia at his home in Maysville, Chataqua county, N. Y.

The Ocean Association has been sued for $30,000 damages for their recent boycott of the Old Dominion Steamship Company.

Mr. Hazen's resignation retires the last of the Republican assistant secretaries who were in office when Cleveland came to the White House. He will go into business in Philadelphia.

Cecil Maxwell, the young English actor, and son of Miss M. E. Braddon, the novelist, who has been insane for a month at Cincinnati, has now entirely recovered and will return to England.

Gen. Jackson had two Secretaries of State, two Secretaries of the Treasury, two Secretaries of the Navy, and two Attorneys-General in his first term. In his second term he had three Secretaries of State, three Secretaries of the Treasury, two of the Navy, two Postmasters-General, and two Attorneys-General.

TAKEN FROM "LIFE."

The English language should be called a dead language. It has been murdered often enough.

Alexander of Russia is a diplomancer. This comes from an over-indulgence in tail-coats.

It has been said that the Irish sweep everything before them. The creature who made the remark never could have had an Irish servant in his house.

Olsen, the Napa Murderer, in Trinity County.

Arizona Still Excited by Fears of Apache Depredations.

Gov. Bartlett Signs More Bills and Cuts Down Appropriations.

Coleman as a Presidential Candidate—Important Railroad Remedy—Sudden Death of Two Well-known San Franciscans—Other News From Along the Coast.

By Telegram to The Times.
 FRENCH GULCH (Shasta county), March 18.—News was received here today that Pete Olsen, the murderer of Mrs. Lyons, at Napa, is in Trinity county, above Lewiston, on the Trinity River. Parties in pursuit saw a man last Wednesday on the west side of the river, having a rifle. He sat down and apparently fell asleep. One of the party approached, and when within 100 yards of the sleeper, shouted. This aroused him, and he sprang up, snatched his rifle and started to run. He was told to stop, but would not. The pursuer then shot five times at the fugitive, but without effect. Parties are still in pursuit. Mr. Lyons is in Trinity county seeking all means to secure Pete's arrest.

MARAUDING INDIANS.
 Apaches Said to be on a Stock-stealing Raid.

BENSON, (Ariz.), March 18.—[By the Associated Press.] The theory has been advanced that the three Indians recently seen in the Dragon Mountains are the few uncaptured Chiricahuas that were in Mexico after the remainder of the tribe were sent to Florida. Some, however, believe them to be Mexican horse-thieves disguised as Indians. Capt. Hatfield and company left for Middle Pass, being ordered to that point, as it is reported that the Indians are killing stock near there. There is little doubt that the Apaches have left the reservation, and that their main object is stock stealing, wishing to replace their stock which was killed during the campaign last year.

SACRAMENTO.
 No Howard for Capturing a Murderer—More Bills Signed.

SACRAMENTO, March 18.—[By the Associated Press.] Certain officials went to Gov. Bartlett yesterday and asked him to offer the usual reward for the arrest of the Kason murderers. They left the Governor's office thinking that the reward would be offered, and the evening papers last night stated positively that the reward had been offered. This morning officers brought in the culprits, but were surprised when they ascertained that the Governor had not offered a reward.

SENATE BILLS APPROVED.

The Governor today signed the following bills: Senate Bill No. 443, to provide for the future management of the Napa Insane Asylum, relating to the resident physician; Assembly Bill No. 267, to provide for the cost and expenses of suits where the State is a party in interest, for the thirty-fifth fiscal year; Assembly Bill No. 323, relating to county and township governments; Assembly Bill No. 325, providing for the deficiency in appropriations for postage and expressage in the office of the Adjutant-General for the thirty-fifth fiscal year; Assembly Bill No. 329, to provide for the deficiency in appropriations for the restoration and preservation of fish in the waters of the State, for the thirty-fifth fiscal year; Assembly Bills Nos. 374, 375 and 380, to provide for the deficiency in the appropriation for payment of rewards for the arrest of criminals without the limits of the State, for the thirty-fifth, thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh fiscal years; Assembly Bill No. 376, to provide for the deficiency for the transportation of prisoners, for the thirty-fifth fiscal year; Senate Bill No. 313, appropriating money for the preservation of the Yosemite Valley and Mariposa Big Tree Grove; Assembly Bill No. 367, to provide for the deficiency in traveling expenses of the Attorney-General and Surveyor-General in the contest between the State of California and the United States, for the thirty-fifth fiscal year.

PRUNING AN APPROPRIATION BILL.

Gov. Bartlett this afternoon approved the General Appropriation Bill, after striking out the following items: Pay of employees of the State Printing Office, $104,000; stock and material of State Printing Office, $50,000; compilation of school textbooks, $15,000. All these items of expenditure were provided for in Assembly Bill No. 528. He also struck out the item appropriating $600 for office rent and $200 for fitting up of office and $300 for the secretary of the Yosemite Valley Commissioners. He also disallowed $5000 for the industrial department and $4000 for the art department of the Deaf, Dumb and Blind Asylum, for the reason that it is excessive. He struck out the item of $30,000 for extension of boiler-house at the Stockton Asylum.

Sudden Deaths of Well-known Citizens—Notes.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—[By the Associated Press.] Two sudden deaths of well-known people occurred here today. Dr. James S. Coleman, a prominent physician of this city, suddenly fell and expired while feeling the pulse of a patient this evening, aged 65 years. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause.

Edward Warren Coleman, nephew of W. T. Coleman, also died suddenly today, from what cause has not been learned. It is believed that a Turkish bath which he took yesterday, may have in some way hastened his death.

A CALIFORNIA CANDIDATE.

Coleman's Chances of a Presidential Nomination.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—[By the Associated Press.] Congressman John Milton Glover, of St. Louis, is in this city, on a tour through the State. "I am not here on matters in any way connected with politics," said he to a Post reporter this morning. "I am simply on a pleasure trip, but, in my social intercourse with leading Democrats of this city, I find that Mr. Coleman, who is a personal friend of mine, is strongly favored for a Presidential nomination. From what I hear, he may be expected to carry the delegation against any man that might be presented to the convention. If he receives the support of the Pacific States, I know of quite a number of votes that will be given him in the East. The man who goes into a convention with that kind of backing is bound to receive some recognition. I notice that the New York Sun is pushing him to the front, and with such support and the backing of the Pacific Coast, Mr. Coleman must be recognized."

CHOLERA.

How the Dread Disease Has Ravaged South America—Vigorous Measures Taken by Costa Rica to Ward It Off.

NEW YORK, March 18.—[By the Associated Press.] Advice from Panama state that on December 26th the first case of cholera was reported in Chilli. On January 7th the disease was busy in Cateneña, Pauque, and within a few days was playing havoc along the whole course of the Aconagua River. In Looecampo, Chilli, a small town, from sixteen to twenty deaths were occurring daily, and people became so alarmed that they finally abandoned the place. In Argentine Republic they are building at the government's expense barracks to hold from 500 to 1000 persons each. They are to be occupied by immigrants arriving there, and whom it will be found necessary to shelter. No vessels from Chilli, Uruguay, Peru or Argentine Republic are allowed to enter Nicaragua port. Honduras has adopted similar precautionary measures.

Señor Everisto Carasco became President of Costa Rica January 1st. The government of Costa Rica has issued a decree ordering all port authorities to refuse to allow vessels to anchor which arrive from the cholera-infected ports of South America.

SAVING THE SICK.

Remarkable Success of a New Treatment for Consumption.

PHILADELPHIA, March 18.—[By the Associated Press.] At a meeting of the hospital committee of the Board of Guardians of the Poor today Dr. T. N. McLaughlin, physician in charge of the Philadelphia Hospital, presented a report of the success of the treatment adopted about a month ago for patients in the institution suffering from consumption. He said that so far the success of the treatment was almost marvelous, and in cases which had agreed to submit to the methods adopted, no other has been used. Dr. McLaughlin first obtained the idea from a paper read before the College of Science at the recent meeting in Paris by one of the professors in the University of Lyons. It was recommended so highly, and had shown such surprising results in France, that Dr. McLaughlin decided to test it in the hospital. He explained the treatment to the patients, and thirty of them agreed to submit to the operation. Twenty of these patients were believed to be suffering from the later stages of consumption. Two rectal injections of carbonic acid gas, prepared by a process given by the French physician, were given each day, all medicine being abandoned. The patients at once began to show signs of improvement. The night sweats began to decrease as if by magic. The almost constant pains from which they suffered vanished. The functions of the body were regular and became natural, and the appetite returned.

New York Turf Talk.

NEW YORK, March 18.—"Centaur" writes in the Sporting World: "The public at large trust mainly to the Bard and Ben Ali to pull off the Suburban race. The Bard is now the actual favorite. Ben Ali runs him close in the market, while for the time being Tremont is being severely let alone. The work that King Fox got last year was not a marker to the drubbing Murphy gave the Derby winner of 1896. Ben Ali ran most of his races last year under great disadvantages. On the other hand, he wintered famously this year, and is now, in every respect, fit to undergo the strongest kind of work, and his speed will have better opportunity to display itself. His chance for the Suburban is exceedingly favorable. Altogether, I am still compelled to stick to my opinion: Ben Ali has the best chance of winning the Suburban."

Heating Cars by Steam.

NEW YORK, March 18.—The superintendent of motive power of the New York Central Railway said this afternoon that the trial of the steam car-heating apparatus which was made yesterday on a train running from Peekskill to this city demonstrated the feasibility of the scheme. The difficulty of connecting the pipes between the cars was overcome by using a brass telescope with ball and socket. Steam is used direct from the locomotive boiler through a pressure-reducing valve, and a strain of 16 pounds is carried on the pipes. The main difficulties hitherto encountered in adopting steam-heating railroads have been in connecting the pipes between the cars and in reducing the pressure of the steam.

Godfrey thinking that McBride intended shooting, drew a revolver and shot McBride, killing him. Godfrey has a wife and family, and McBride worked for William Pinkerton, herding stock.

Lawton's Excited Creditors.

NEW YORK, March 18.—The office of Walter E. ## THIRTY VICTIMS.

Great Loss of Life by Fire at Buffalo, N. Y.

A Crowded Hotel Proves a Veritable Death-trap.

Many of Its Inmates Burned to Death or Fatally Injured.

Telegraph Wires Prevent the Firemen from Carrying Out the Work of Rescue—An Appalling Scene—Partial List of the Dead and Dying.

By Telegram to The Times.

BUFFALO, March 18.—[By the Associated Press.] The Richmond Hotel and St. James's Hall were burned early this morning. The loss is fully $500,000. A number of lives were lost and many persons were injured. There were 135 persons in the hotel, 70 of whom were transient guests, 8 boarders, and the remainder porters, bell-boys, the families of the proprietors, and clerks. Twenty-two of these were rescued from windows by the firemen, 22 are at the hospitals, and a large number made their escape by other means. The spread of the flames was frightful in its rapidity. The elevator shaft served as a flue for the flames, and the whole structure was enveloped in a few minutes. As the guests were aroused and saw the interior exit cut off, they turned to the windows. They could be seen standing out clear and vivid before the lurid background of flame. Their screams were horrible to hear and they could be heard for blocks. The firemen did noble work and confined the fire to the narrow limits of the buildings named. Their work of rescue had many exciting incidents. The telegraph wires were as usual in the way of the ladder brigade, and much valuable time was lost in getting the ladders past them.

The buildings were situated at the corner of Main and Eagle streets, extending through to Washington street. The fire was discovered at 3:30 this morning in the new Richmond hotel. The alarm was sounded and the fire department responded promptly. The house contained a large number of guests, and there could plainly be heard. Ladders were raised as soon as possible, and as many as could be taken out. A large number of them were unable to effect their escape. At 4 o'clock the entire Richmond Hotel, St. James Hall and other property in the block were doomed to speedy destruction. The whole place burned like tinder. The corridor in the center of the building acted as a great funnel. The flames streamed upward. The guests found themselves imprisoned by walls of fire. The screams of the unfortunate could be heard, and as many of the windows they were rescued from in their night clothes, calling wildly for help. At one of the third-floor windows two guests were seen by the crowd to fall back into the flames. One man jumped from the fifth floor to the roof of a two-story wooden building adjoining. He was seriously injured. The number of the injured is not exactly known. The fire hospital contains eight men and one woman; all are in a bad condition, and more or less seriously injured. All are from out of town, except the woman. Two of the injured are at the Sisters' Hospital. There are also four injured persons at the Genoa Hospital.

THRILLING SCENES.

Five girls who roomed on the fifth floor made a rope out of bed-clothes and hung it out of the window, but none seemed to have courage to start. At last one of the five took hold, and swung down to a window ledge, from which she was rescued. Several other came down in the same manner, and then the fifth girl started down. She had gone but a little distance, when the rope parted, and down she went, four stories. Strange to say, she was not killed. Her legs were terribly bruised, her back badly injured, and her face and arms were in a frightful condition from burns. Mark Osborne, the day clerk at the Richmond Hotel, of the hotel, is missing. It is believed that he perished. William A. Haven, of Helena, Mont., was burned about the hands, feet and face, and is suffering from the shock. He is chief engineer of the Northern Pacific Railroad. Four are dead among those who jumped from the building—William Purcell, a broker of this city, an unknown man and two unknown. The fire hospital contains a large amount of diamonds were in the hotel last night. B. Robinson, of Lambert & Co., had stock valued at $50,000 deposited in the safe. Mr. Adler had in his room $30,000 worth, and a Mr. Smith had another considerable amount of stock, but the amount was not known.

THE DEAD AND THE DYING.

As far as can be ascertained the dead are as follows: Katie Kent, Minnie Kelly and Katie Pearce, servants; William Purcell, Mark Osborne, day clerk at the hotel; St. James, a Toronto railway man; Kate Wolf, a servant of Lockport. The dying are: Jacob Kahn, of New York; Henry Ramsey, of New York; Maggie Mulrach, of Buffalo; Mrs. W. J. Mackay, of Niagara Falls. A servant girl named Walsh is believed to be among the dead. The total loss by the fire is $400,000 on the hotel and museum buildings, which were insured for $60,000. Fuller & Townsend, clothiers, were insured for $45,000. Their stock was a total loss, and was valued at $20,000. Peter Paul & Bro., and Albright & Kingley, stationers, each lose $40,000 with $30,000 insurance. Several minor losses were sustained.

NARROW ESCAPES.

ROCHESTER (N. Y.), March 18.—Several survivors of the hotel fire, at Buffalo, are in this city. Winfield S. Dewey was quite seriously burned about the face and head. His hair was all burned off, and his right foot was badly burned. He had a room on the second floor, and was awakened by a bell. He attempted to escape by the hall, but was driven back by the flames. He was rescued from his window by firemen. Max Dahman, a clothier, escaped by jumping two stories onto an adjoining building. P. Lamb, an insurance adjuster, narrowly escaped with his life. He was taken from the fire-escape.

THE BIG DEAL.

More Rumors About Baltimore and Ohio.

A New York Report Gives the Road to a Gotham Syndicate.

But a Philadelphia Dispatch Makes the Atchison the Buyer.

Ex-Gov. Robinson, of Massachusetts, Declines the Appointment of Interstate Commerce Commissioner—Now Cleveland Spent His Fifth Birthday.

By Telegram to The Times.

New York, March 18.—[By the Associated Press.] Late today the statement was given out, apparently by authority, in Wall street, that the negotiations for the purchase of the Baltimore and Ohio have been completed; that the road has been bought by the Stayer-Ives syndicate; that a first deposit has already been paid, amounting to $500,000, and that the transfer of the road to the purchasers would soon be made. The buyers are known only by their connection with the purchase of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad. The backer of these parties is reported to be Christopher Mehr, the millionaire rubber manufacturer of this city. There are, it is asserted, no other parties back of the purchase of any importance, and although C. F. Huntington's name is coupled with the Hamilton and Dayton Railroad, he officially denies the connection, and those nearest to him assert to their personal friends that he has no connection whatever with the syndicate.

WHAT SULLY SAYS.

New York, March 18.—For the first time since the Baltimore and Ohio deal has been pending, Sully today broke his silence so far as to say: "Yes; I see that other parties claim to have purchased control of the Baltimore and Ohio. I think they have made a deposit on account. When the Terminal company decided not to exercise their option, I told the Baltimore and Ohio people that while we unanimously desired to combine our Terminal property with the Baltimore and Ohio property, yet we could not ask them to consider themselves in any way bound to leave the Terminal open. Therefore, if any disposition has been made it is perfectly proper and right. New Orleans is clamorous for a fast-mail service. How can it be afforded? If it must pass over half a dozen different railroads, each will have different interests, and naturally will war with each other. Combine these roads into one system and you have a powerful corporation, anxious to serve the public, to create and maintain the very best service, and thereby derive the best revenue. I think time will yet bring the Baltimore and Ohio into the Terminal system. The Terminal company now own 500 miles of road, and an alliance of this road with the Baltimore and Ohio would be of immense value to that property, as well as to the city of Baltimore."

THE ATCHISON STORY REVIVED.

PHILADELPHIA, March 18.—The Record tomorrow will say: "President Robert Garrett, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, arrived in this city yesterday from Trenton. He was accompanied by E. Rolan Morse, a representative of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, and also representatives of the Delaware and Hudson, and New York banking-houses. President Garrett and Mr. Morse were closeted for a long time in Trenton on Thursday night, and from reliable sources comes the story that the proposed sale of that road to the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, which is known to be anxious to obtain it, was discussed, and an understanding arrived at."

PITTSBURGH AND WESTERN ROAD.

PITTSBURGH (Pa.), March 18.—"You may say that arrangements for the reorganization of the Pittsburgh and Western have been consummated," said James Calleran, president of the company, this afternoon, at the Monongahela House. "Solon Humphreys, R. K. Peiser, H. W. Oliver and myself are awaiting the arrival of Mr. Thomas M. King to complete what few details have not been attended to. The plan will require an advance of $3,000,000, the greater part of which must be paid promptly, in order to purchase $1,700,000 of bonds not taken by subscribers. We shall not be included in any deal that the Baltimore and Ohio may make with the Delaware and Hudson, and Lehigh Valley will come to us, all right."

NATIONAL NOTES.

Ex-Gov. Robinson Declines to be an Interstate Commissioner.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—[By the Associated Press.] Ex-Gov. Robinson, of Massachusetts, was at the White House today. He was offered a place on the Interstate Commerce Commission about two weeks ago, and declined by letter. The same offer was repeated today and again declined. Ex-Gov. Thurman was also among the President's callers today, and it is presumed that his visit had some connection with the appointment of commissioners.

IMPORTANT LAND DECISION.

In compliance with a request from the Secretary of the Interior, Attorney-General Garland rendered an opinion in the celebrated case of the Northern Pacific Railway versus Guilford Miller, filed in the Department of the Interior, on appeal from the decision of the Commissioner of the General Land Office. The story of the case briefly stated is as follows: On December 31, 1884, Miller made a homestead entry of the tract in question in the Walla Walla (Washington Territory) Land Office. The tract entered lies within forty miles of the line of the general route of said road, as shown by the map filed February 21, 1873, which filing under the granting act operated to withdraw the land from settlement and entry, on the definite location of the road. On October 4, 1880, the land was found to be outside of the forty and within the fifty mile indemnity limit, and the withdrawal on the original route was continued as an indemnity withdrawal. The company selected the land October 17, 1883. The principal question at issue is whether railroad indemnity withdrawals are authorized by law, or, in other words, whether the officer of the Interior Department had, or has, authority to withhold lands within the indemnity limits from entry and settlement. The Attorney-General finds that such withdrawal does not rest upon any statutory provision, but upon the general authority of the Land Department, which has been recognized by Congress, repeatedly affirmed by the Supreme Court, of the United States, and must now be regarded as too well established to be questioned. The land having been surreptitiously withdrawn since 1873, it follows, therefore, that Miller's entry was improperly allowed.

THE PRESIDENT'S BIRTHDAY.

Today is the fiftieth anniversary of President Cleveland's birthday, but there is no outward observance of the event at the White House, beyond the presentation of a number of floral tributes. The President tonight attended the performance of "Primo and West's Minstrels at the National Theater. The occupants of the President's box were Mrs. Hoyt, Miss Jewett, of Buffalo, and Col. and Mrs. Belmont.

AN EL PASO PROJECT.

A Texas Town Ambitious to Compete with Kansas City. EL PASO (Tex.), March 18.—[By the Associated Press.] The Grande Milling and Flouring Company, which has large stamp mill in the city of Guanajuato, Mex., has proposed to our citizens the establishment of a smelter, reduction works and a refinery here, if they will donate sufficient land for their use, with water power for the same, and rebate taxes on the plant for a term of years. The managers of the above-named company are ex-Gov. Gregory Smith, of Vermont, president of the Vermont Central Railroad, ex-Gov. J. B. Loomis, of Connecticut, president of the Dayton and Iron Railroad, D. D. Conover, president of a New York city street railroad, Haveneyer, the millinery sugar refiner of New York, and President Ross, of the Canada Grand Trunk Railroad. They represent over $300,000,000, and they have $300,000 worth of machinery already purchased and en route to Guanajuato, which they will ship here if the donation which they ask, and which will only cost the city about $15,000, is made. A committee of prominent citizens is soliciting funds today to make the purchase. The establishment of the plant seems now to be assured, and the establishment will compete with Kansas City, and treat all ores from Mexico, New Mexico and Arizona, and give employment to 1000 men.

He suffered the greatest agony for several days.

Threatened Scarcity of Beef.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—George G. Carr, a well-known cattle-dealer, stated yesterday that the winter has been severe enough to kill off beef and greatly weaken a large number. It is expected that but small importations of beef-cattle will be made from Nevada, Montana and the neighboring ranges this year, as the winter has been greatly depleted. Local wholesale men are already trying to place contracts for the purchase of beef on foot, for the coming summer, but the cattlemen are trying to hold off until the condition of the market can be better judged by ascertaining to a certainty the condition of cattle on the Nevada and Montana ranges.

Probably No Agreement.

VIENNA (Nev.), March 18.—The case of Sol Frankel, of the insolvent firm of Frankel & Co., has been on trial for three days in the District Court, and was given to the jury at 5:45 p.m. this evening, and up to a late hour no verdict has been rendered. Great Damage Caused Thus Far, but Greater Losses Anticipated—The Water Four Feet Deep on the Tracks of the Northern Pacific Railway.

By Telegram to The Times.

BISMARCK (Dak.), March 18.—[By the Associated Press.] Washburne gorge broke last night, and early this morning the river began to rise rapidly. A gorge was formed below the city. The ice carried everything with it, and struck the immense warehouse of the Northern Pacific, one of the largest in the world. The workmen narrowly escaped drowning, and in less than two hours from the time the gorge formed the water was in the second stories of boarding-houses which had been built on what was considered solid ground. The warehouse, nearly 700 feet in length, was moved bodily over thirty feet, and sent crashing against the bluffs. The loss on this building will be over $15,000.

The meadow lands south of Bismarck, comprising 5000 acres, is now on a vast sea, and the water is flowing over the newly-made channel at the rate of ten miles an hour. The river at this point, which is usually three-quarters of a mile wide, is now over six miles in width. Northern Pacific trains will hardly be able to cross the river for several days, and Bismarck will probably be the western terminus for a week.

Supt. Graham attempted to go to Mandan, but the water on the west side of the river is flowing over the track four feet, and the fires in the engine were put out. Mandan is submerged, and the people in the lower part of the city have been moving into the upper stories of their dwellings. All small dwellings on the banks of the stream have been swept away or destroyed, and steamboats lying at Rock Haven are in danger. The high trestle of the Northern Pacific at this point has been damaged.

At 10 o'clock the new channel which the river has cut across the bluffs let out, and the river is falling slowly, but the worst has not come. The ice went out at Fort Buford this morning with a rise of thirty feet—the highest ever known. This flood will not reach here until Saturday, when there will probably be terrible destruction.

Run Over by a Hand-car.

FRANKLIN, March 18.—James, the 14-year-old son of Mrs. Simpson, was run over by a hand-car at the station last night. The boy had got on a passenger train and jumped off just as the train pulled out of the depot. A hand-car, containing a few men and about a ton of tools, was passing at the time, and the boy fell across the front of it. The car and the wheels passed across his breast, crushing it and inflicting internal and supposed mortal injuries.

Rain Needed at Merced.

MERCED, March 18.—A heavy norther has prevailed during the past 24 hours, which has done considerable damage to crops, especially the late-sown grain. Crops throughout the valley are very backward, and unless rain ensues speedily hardly any wheat will be raised. Much of the summer-fallow grain rotted in the ground during the month of January for lack of moisture, which accounts for the sparse growth thereon.

A SURE CASE.

The Burglar of District Attorney Patton's House Caught.

Yesterday's dispatches from San Francisco announced the capture of Frederick Peterson in that city with a lot of silverware, and the fact that he was supposed to be the burglar who "went through" District Attorney Patton's house, some days ago, and got away with about $1500 worth of valuables. Sheriff Kays received a private telegram from Chief Crowley, stating that one of the articles found on Peterson was a pair of opera glasses inscribed with the name of Ruth Wilson. As this was the maiden name of Mrs. Patton, the identification seems complete. Deputy Sheriff Cooney will arrive from the North today with Peterson in charge.

He then marched Hanson and McDonald to the County Jail, the other tough escaping.

DRESSMAKING.

DEACON SUMPTER'S DREAM.

A Curious But Fine Tale of the Olden Time.

The following true anecdote is communicated to Tid-Bits by a gentleman of Galesburg, Mich.:

Deacon Sumpter, a kind-hearted and righteous man, dwelt, during the reign of George III., upon the outskirts of Plymouth, England. One night in the early springtime, having retired to rest at his usual hour, his sleep was disturbed by a remarkable dream. It appeared to him that he could hear most distinctly a voice from heaven saying to him, "Arise, and go without delay to Bodmin." Bodmin was a market town in the adjoining county (the county of Cornwall) about twenty-five miles from Plymouth. The deacon was not a superstitious man, though living in a superstitious age. He was a man of strong mind and will, not easily moved by strange fancies. Yet the dream troubled him. After thinking about it for some time, he aroused his wife and told her what had disturbed him, and how deep the impression it had made upon him. As she had not herself been dreaming, she could not seek to forgetfulness in sleep. After a while he fell asleep and the dream again came to him with all its previous vividness; most clearly and distinctly he heard the voice saying to him, "Arise, without delay, and go to Bodmin." He could no longer rest, and resolved to find for himself whether there was anything more than fancy in it, by immediately setting out for Bodmin. He hurriedly dressed and then went to the paddock adjoining his house that he might catch and saddle his pony. He had some misgiving that it would be a long and difficult task in the night, but to his surprise when he reached the field he found the pony at the gate as though waiting for him. He was soon in the saddle and at a brisk trot started for Bodmin. Just then another thought troubled him. He remembered that between three and four miles from Plymouth he would have to cross a wide, deep, tidal river. In the daytime a ferryboat was constantly plying there, but during the night the ferryboat was kept on the opposite shore, and he feared that he might not be able to make himself heard. When, however, he arrived at the river he found the boat waiting for him. Surprised at this he asked the men why they had remained on that side of the river. They said it appeared to them as if some person called "boat" several times; they crossed the river, and not finding any person there, were about to return, when they heard the noise of horse's hoofs on the hard road (it was a clear frosty night) and determined to wait and see if any person wished to cross. This incident tended to confirm his first impression, that there must be a purpose in his dream.

In due time he arrived in the town of Bodmin, and after so long a ride was glad to seek some refreshment. Then the question came to him, "Why am I here?" He was a perfect stranger; he had never seen that town before, he had not a friend in the place. On that occasion Bodmin wore an unusually busy appearance for a small market town. The reason soon became apparent; what was termed the "spring assize," were being held. In such towns the holding of "assize" is the notable event of the year. Having nothing else to do he strolled into the court. He there found himself surrounded by those medieval arrangements which are still supposed in Europe to lend dignity and solemnity to the administration of justice. There was the judge on the bench, with his wig of powdered horse-hair hanging over his shoulders, and gorgeously attired in a robe of scarlet and ermine. There were the barristers in their black and white gowns, and the various officers of the court arrayed in their different uniforms. There were also the usual crowd of interested spectators, the whole forming an impressive scene.

At the bar stood the prisoner, a man of pale, anxious face, having nothing of the appearance of the ordinary felon. The charge preferred against him was that of highway robbery; a crime in that day always punished with death.

Prior to the deacon's arrival, witnesses had been examined and cross-examined without the testimony being shaken. The prisoner's case appeared most difficult of defense, and it was generally felt that the jury would very speedily arrive at a decision when once it was placed in their hands. The jury were charged by the judge, dismissed to consider the case, and after a short absence returned with the verdict of "guilty." According to the custom, before pronouncing sentence on the prisoner, the judge asked what he had to say, why the verdict should not be carried out.

In reply to that question the prisoner strongly asserted his innocence, declared that he was not in that part of the country when the crime was committed, but many miles away. He said there was one man who, if he could meet with him, would be able to attest his innocence. He had never seen him before that day, and had not met with him since. He told the court that on the very day the crime with which he was charged was committed, he was riding on the outside of a stage coach, and held a long conversation with that unknown man on an important religious question. When the prisoner had proceeded thus far with his statement, he discovered the presence of the deacon in court, and addressing himself to the judge, exclaimed, "My lord, the very man of whom I have spoken is here, and if placed in the witness-box can I am sure, prove that I am innocent of the crime with which I am charged."

The deacon gladly assumed the position of "witness" in this very remarkable trial, and was able to discover the purpose of his presence in Bodmin that day. He referred to his distinct remembrance of the conversation the prisoner had alluded to, and then related to the judge and court the incident of the past night which was the occasion of his journey to Bodmin.

The statement produced a profound impression, and the judge directed that the prisoner should immediately be set at liberty, saying, "This is the finger of God."

The record of this remarkable incident may still be found in the Minutes Assize of the county of Cornwall, England.
